COUE COMES TO U. S. TO TELL OF AUTOSUGGESTION

Eat Slowly, Never Worry, Look On Bright Side and Think Sane Wholesome Thoughts, 4 Rules of Living.

TEACHES PEOPLE TO CURE SELVES BY THEMSELVES

By Milton Brouner
NANCY, France, Jan. 4.—Coue is in America to do all Americans good. That's what he told me just before he left his clinic here for New York. Coue is very insistent that you shall not call him "Doctor."
"I am Monsieur Coue, at your service," says the healer-psychologist, with fine and unaffected simplicity. Here in Nancy he is looked upon as the leading citizen, because he is the most celebrated. People come from all over the world to his simple home on the Rue Sainte Jeanne d'Arc, or to the little cottage in back of it where Coue meets those who want help.

I asked him whether autosuggestion as practiced by him was not kindred to Christian Science. Coue promptly answered: "In Christian Science people are cured by prayer.

"I teach people to CURE THEMSELVES BY THEMSELVES.

"Considering every sufferer as a possible physician I say to him, physician, heal thyself!"

"I do not claim to work miracles. I simply help others to help themselves. For instance if a man has a broken arm, I tell him, if he is wise he will send for a surgeon. But I also tell him he can help himself recover the use of a limb or an eye or an ear which has ceased to function from long disuse.

"In America, as in France and in England, I expect to find every class of human beings as a good field for me. But young people, and women especially, are generally more sensitive to autosuggestion than men.

"As America is a country of the young, and as women pay so large a part in your life, I think I will get a favorable hearing.

"I shall give people some very easy rules. They are easy to remember and easy to practise, if there is the proper will-power. They can be phrased in few words, as thus:

"Eat slowly.
"Never worry.
"Look on the bright side of things.
"Think sane and wholesome thoughts."

Monsieur Coue then smiled his pleasant smile and observed:

"From what they tell me, I think the first two rules are badly needed in America. They say that in the mad rush of business in America, people eat their meals too quickly and also that they worry too much about affairs.

"Worry is a child of nervousness. I think that war has considerably increased the number of nervous illnesses all over the world.

"It is necessary for people once more to get a grip on themselves. They must not let themselves go. They must make their minds and their wills once more resume command over their bodies. In that path lies healing. It is not a patent cure. It is not a miracle.

"It is merely common sense in action."

STATE TAX LAWS HAVE CHANGED

Less Than 15 Items Originally Taxed.—60 or 70 Are Now Listed.

By Associated Press
FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 4.—Less than fifteen items were subject to taxation under Kentucky's first revenue law compared to the 60 or 70 now listed, according to figures compiled in the office of Fred A. Vaughan, secretary of state. Kentucky's first revenue law, approved by Governor Isaac Shelby June 26, 1792, became operative the following month. It, Dreckinridge was speaker of the house and Alex S. Bulitt speaker of the senate which passed the measure, the record shows.

The act, which called for the collection of "a permanent revenue," listed land as the first item to be subject to taxation, each one hundred acres requiring a tax of two shillings.

Taxes for slaves occupied a great part of the original law, certain slaves were exempt by action of the county courts. A flat rate of two shillings was collected for all slaves not exempt by old age or infirmity. Horses and mules were taxed eight pence each and owners of coaches or carriages had to pay six shillings. For all four wheeled vehicles, except those used for agriculture, a tax of four shillings a wheel was levied.

Billiard tables were taxed ten pounds each and retail stores were forced to pay a like sum.

Tax commissioners were appointed in the various counties to collect the tax and make proper returns. These were assigned as follows throughout the state: Mason, three; Bourbon, three; Fayette, three; Woodford, three; Jefferson, two; Nelson, four; Mercer, three; Lincoln, four; Madison, three.

Under the original tax law and person giving the wrong valuation or fraudulently reporting his property was subject to heavy fine. Any one knowing that a neighbor had failed to report an article could report the fact to the commission and receive half of the fine assessed.

PROHIBITION AGENTS GET LARGE STILL

Capture On Harp's Creek With 200 Gallons Liquor—Owner Taken To Barbourville

PINEVILLE, Jan. 3.—One of the largest hauls made by prohibition agents recently was the capture of a 125-gallon copper still at the head of Harp's Creek just over the line in Prohibition Agent W. R. Green with John Linville and Tom Watts, deputy sheriffs.

The still belonged to George Lee who is being held in jail at Barbourville and will be given an examining trial in the Federal Court at Pineville Friday January 5.

The officers came upon the still site after word had been sent by grapevine telegraph that they were on the way and found the still yet warm from a Saturday night operation. It was concealed in a pile of saw dust forty steps from Lee's cabin in the mountains. The officers found 200 gallons of beer, two gallons of wine and four gallons of whiskey.

BANKERS PREDICT PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR THIS SECTION

Business On Boom As 1922 Closes Insures Good New Year—Reports For 1923 Favorable All Over County

SAY LABORERS ARE SAYING MONEY, NOT SPENDING IT

That the year 1923 promises prosperity and good business is the optimistic prediction of the cashiers of Middlesboro's two banks, men probably the most advantageously situated to judge of such matters for this vicinity. The year just past closed with an increasing volume of business, and it is shown that only a severe strike or violently unsettled conditions can keep this section from a most prosperous.

"Prospects in Middlesboro and vicinity, as well as for the whole country are very bright," said R. K. Judy, cashier of the National Bank of Middlesboro. "We may see three or four months in the middle when things do not go exactly right, but 1923 will surely be a good year, even a much better year than 1922. Reports from every section of the country are favorable and Middlesboro can not fall behind when things look so well every place else. This section is always the last to feel a financial depression or recovery, and the fact that it has only in the past few months begun to feel the effects of the general recovery from war conditions almost guarantees a good year for 1923.

"Accounts in the bank are increasing rapidly," continued Mr. Judy, "and Tuesday, January 2, was the biggest day we have had since 1920. Everyone is saving and business is in a healthier condition than in 1920 because people are saving rather than spending. Some merchants declare that they are doing bigger business than they ever did. Mr. Judy said, "While others say that their Christmas business was as good as in 1920 but that the average for December was not as good."

"The 1923 outlook seems particularly promising to me," declared W. F. Frazer, cashier of the Citizens' Bank and Trust Co. "Savings accounts are growing steadily and that is a good indication that business is better. The Christmas Club department has started out about double of last year's accounts. While the bank has over a million dollars on deposit, the largest amount since the war.

"Laborers and workmen are not spending so recklessly as they did the last 'good times' continued Mr. Frazer. "They have learned to appreciate the fact that prosperity comes and goes and they are going to be prepared to meet conditions the next time prosperity goes. Collections are very good, too," he said, "and that is perhaps the surest sign of all that good times have come."

SAVINGS OFFER TO BOYS AND GIRL THROUGH LOCAL BANK

A benevolent Middlesboro citizen has made a savings proposition to the boys and girls of this city which will undoubtedly do a great deal to ward encouraging thrift among them. The proposition is this: For every boy or girl between the ages of 8 and 14 years who deposits one dollar monthly for twelve months on a savings account in the Citizens Bank and Trust Co., he will add one dollar at the end of the year to the account. In addition, the bank pays 1 per cent interest.

The man who makes this offer is not a stockholder, director, employee or in any way connected with the Citizens Bank. Rather, he is a friend of the young people and is interested in installing thrift and responsibility in them.

A THOUGHT

For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is passed, 90:1.

DECREASING LAWLESSNESS

It is with relief that we note the decreasing lawlessness in Middlesboro and vicinity. The passing of the holidays without a single homicide or serious altercation is evidence that this old order of things is sinking into obscurity.

Veteran citizens of this section can recall times when the fatal sound of a gunshot attracted little or no attention. Murders, homicides and serious difficulties were of almost daily occurrence. Practically every man was armed to teeth and neither asked nor gave quarter when he found cause for a fight. It is little wonder that the commonwealth of Kentucky became known throughout the country for its lawlessness.

But these times have gone and we are now enjoying an era of peace and harmony. The old law of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" seems to have been supplanted by statutory law enforced by efficient conscientious agents.

The extinction of the public saloons seems to have been the first blow to the dark regime of bloodshed. National prohibition, coming soon after, further remedied conditions, and now, except for the few lingering bootleggers and moonshiners the section is almost ideal from the standpoint of morality and quietude.

There are always some who say that prohibition will never be entirely effective and perhaps they are right. However, morality is clearly on the ascending scale and the improved condition should meet with the encouragement and approval of every person.

We feel that our local officers are to be congratulated for the aid they have rendered in making possible this condition of decreasing lawlessness, and that their services are appreciated by every law-abiding citizen of the county.

NEW BUREAU OF MENTAL HYGIENE

When we realize that many of the insanity found in our state hospitals today was preventable if these unfortunates had been properly treated when they showed signs for the first time of not being able successfully to meet the demands of everyday life; that many of the inmates of our feeble-minded institutions need never have reached here had their deficiencies been recognized early and they had been properly trained according to their abilities to learn; that many of the inmates of our dependent and delinquent institutions would never have been such had they been properly understood while they were still young, we can readily see how well we have failed in the past to do our duty.

Too long have we remained satisfied with our efforts exerted in caring for those about us who have become failures either as insane, feeble-minded, dependents or delinquents. If we are ever to solve any of these problems we must intensively study them until their causes are known to us, and then eradicate these causes by the application of preventive measures. The concentration of all our forces and efforts on the conditions themselves, and practically ignoring the sources from which they come, is a procedure that is unintelligent, relatively unproductive in results and most costly.

In order that more work of a preventive nature may be made possible, especially in the fields of normal mental health, mental disease (insanity), feeble-mindedness, dependency and delinquency, the State Board of Health has created a new department to be known as the Bureau of Mental Hygiene.

The object of the Bureau of Mental Hygiene will be three fold. First to co-operate with already existing agencies, such as the State Board of Charities and Corrections, school department, juvenile courts, police courts, dependent and delinquent institutions (either of public or private nature), by aiding them in any way that the Bureau is capable. Secondly this Bureau will carry on wholesome and constructive educational campaigns in order that the people of the state may become acquainted with the more important problems of mental hygiene, especially the value and necessity of its preventive aspects. Third, by the establishing of permanent or "Flying Clinics," where individuals may come, or be referred for advice, in order that possible failure or difficulty in social adjustment may be avoided.

CHEER UP

Remember this: When Abraham Lincoln was a young man he ran for the Legislature in Illinois and was badly swamped. He entered business and failed and spent seventeen years of his life paying up the debts of a worthless partner. He was in love with a beautiful woman to whom he became engaged—then she died. Later he married a woman who was a constant burden to him.

Entering politics again, Lincoln ran for Congress again and was badly defeated. He then tries to get an appointment to the United States Land office, but failed. He became a candidate for the United States senate and was badly defeated. In 1856 he was a candidate for the vice-presidency and was again defeated. In 1858 he was defeated by Douglas.

When you think of a series of setbacks like this, doesn't it make you feel kind of small to become discouraged just because you are having a hard time in life?

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

Porky Porcupine was hardest of all to coax.

Dusty Coat and Nancy and Nick finally persuaded all the people of Whispering Forest, Daunt Meadow, Old Orchard and Ripple Creek to go to Dreamland.

Porky Porcupine was hardest of all to coax. But one day Jack Frost blew his breath on the trees. After a rain storm and covered them with a coat of ice as hard as stone. As Porky depends for food on the bark of hemlock and beech trees and cold ironwood (when he can get it) it left him short of rations. Indeed there wasn't a thing he could see to eat anywhere, so at last he consented to take a little of Dusty Coat's magical powder and go to sleep for a spell.

The Twins tucked him in a nice warm hole between some rocks, then they put Browne blankets all around him and left him. "When he wakes up it will be pretty spring," said the little dwarf sandman kindly. "Then he can get all the food he wants."

So Porky snored away, quite as hard as you are on a cold winter's night after mother has tucked you in all snug and comfy under soft quilts.

"Well, now everybody's gone," said Nancy, looking around at the quiet woods. "I suppose we'd better go back and tell the Fairy Queen. There isn't anything more to do."

"Do!" exclaimed Dusty Coat in surprise. "Did you think that was all there was to it? Just to give each person a snuff of magic powder and put him to sleep?"

"Why, yes," said Nancy. "So did I," put in Nick. "Goodness, no!" said Dusty Coat. "That's only the beginning. Sleeps no fun unless you have happy dreams. We must go around and sprinkle more magic powder over the sleepers and send them off to Dreamland."

"Oh, and may we go to Dreamland too?" begged Nancy.

"I should say so," nodded Dusty Coat. "We must go and keep them in order."

♦ ♦ ♦ By Berton Braley ♦ ♦ ♦

The milkman, so at least it's said,
Is truly an important person,
And therefore he's a man I'm led
To write this verse on.

It frequently has been averred
That he gets up ere dawn is fairly,
And is, beyond a doubt, a bird
Exceeding early!

In summer's heat, in winter's cold,
In weather fair, or seasons hateful,
He brings my milk and cream, I'm told,
Well, I am grateful.

They say he does the best he can
And that, no matter what the day
be,
He brings the milk for woman, man,
And for the baby.

He does his duty, it's affirmed,
With application almost fervent,
And therefore should be duly termed
A faithful servant.

He loves his children and his wife
(Or so I heard). I do not doubt it;
Therefore to help him in life
I'll write about it!

The milkman's character is fine
(I'm told), but dawn's dim shadows screen him.
Since I arise at half-past nine,
I've never seen him!

THE ONE-MAN WOMAN

By Ruth Agnes Abeling.

KATE WARD, her husband, DAN WARD, dead, returned to her childhood village to care for her widower father.

JUSTIN PARSONS To their cottage came
CHINATOWN ALICE, with the story that Dan was the father of Alice's child.

DOROTHY Later came word of Dorothy's illness and to determine what should be done for the child, Kate visited Alice at the laundry of SING LOY, with whom the latter lived. Shortly after this interview she was surprised to see the mysterious Alice in company with a strange man.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Who could the man with Alice be?"

The question shaped in Kate Ward's mind and with every step she took bore in as if there were some peculiar significance attached.

The man had been too tall for Sing Loy. It wasn't Sing Loy's voice either.

When she reached her room, Kate hastened to the window, hoping that she might catch sight of the two. She opened far out. The street was quite deserted.

For possibly 20 minutes she paced the floor trying to arrive at some conclusion. She believed Alice was concealing something. Finally she made a decision and then retired.

Kate Ward slept peacefully that night—slept as if a great burden had been lifted from her mind.

She rose in the morning refreshed. The sun was shining brightly. The air was soft. Kate felt almost happy as she stepped out on the street.

If the cloud which shadowed her love for Dan could just be lifted! If it just could she would ask nothing more of life than just to be allowed to live out her days true to her dream of the one great love for every man and every woman.

She made her way first toward the Chinese Laundry. She intended to say "Goodmorning" to Alice and then go on about the other affairs of the day.

As she opened the door of the laundry she heard Sing Loy singing. Things must be going well with the little oriental—he was happy of heart.

At a board, ironing, was Alice. She looked up as Kate neared. There was a question in her gaze. "Good morning!" Kate spoke first. "Morning!" Alice was back at her ironing. Head bent down. Her voice had a sullen note.

"And how is Dorothy this morning?" asked Kate.

"Just the same," Alice was non-communative. During the dialogue, Sing Loy had entered the room and stood, with adoring eyes, watching every change of expression on the face of the girl at the board. It was plain that Sing, the slim-faced, dark-eyed man regarded Alice as a semi-goddess.

"I do want you to feel at peace about Dorothy," said Kate, turning to the door but speaking to Alice. "Because just as soon as I get home I shall arrange to do something for her."

Alice looked up suddenly. a new light in her eyes. "Will you?" she said eagerly pleading in the tone.

Out on the street again, Kate turned toward St. Anthony's Hospital. That was where Alice said Dorothy had been taken. She wanted to see Dorothy if possible. Her feeling toward the child had changed over night. She regarded her now as the child of the man she loved, not as the daughter of a rival for his affection.

She turned into the broad gates of the hospital entrance and walked up the stone steps into the corridor to the desk.

In answer to her question the nurse in charge looked over the register. Then she said: "We have no patient named Dorothy. No patients have been admitted to the children's ward this week."

After The Storm

The thunder roared
And the lightning flashed,
And the raindrops fell to the earth
With a splash;
And the wind swayed
The great trees to and fro,
For this was a thunder you know.

And then on the morrow
The sunbeams played
And chased each other
Over hill and glade,
And the merry brook
Sang a sweet little song
As it rippled and bubbled and flowed
Along.

So it is with life
That is really worth while,
The frowns are chased away
Like the sunbeams that
Chase the clouds away
And join together to make a happy day.

GOOD MANNERS

It is no longer customary to require children to say "Yes, sir," or "Yes, ma'am," in answering their elders.

Still, some deference should be shown. Good form is "Yes, father," "No, mother," or "Thank you, Mr. Smith."

Manner is as important as the form of speech. The child should be courteous and respectful in conversation with those considerably older than himself.

When love is a game of three
One heart can win but gain.
While two, between them, share the joy

That all had hoped to gain.
The one in his bitter sadness, smiles on

Test the others see.
But the two, in their new-found gladness,

Forget 'tis a game of three.

RETIRING OFFICERS
OF KIWANIS CLUB
EXPRESS FAREWELL

Congratulate Organization on Pilots
For Coming Year and Urge
Great Things For City
And Vicinity.

MEMBERS OF CLUB PRAISED FOR ACTIVE RESPONSIVENESS

The Kiwanis club is closing another fiscal year tonight and its meeting at the Cumberland Hotel will be marked by the passing of the officers who have been at the helm for the past year and the installation of those who have been elected to try their fortunes for the coming year. This meeting is naturally one of unusual interest, but it is more so this year due to the advancement that the club has made during the past year and also due to the important features that are before it this coming year. It has ceased to be an experiment. It is now well matured and full grown and has come to its full place of prominence in the civic and social affairs of the city and neighborhood.

Even though the way is more or less hazardous for the coming year, there need be no cause for fear as to the final outcome. The club has elected possibly the strongest set of officers that it has ever had and the entire personnel is well balanced and capable. They are men of vision and also of action and for them the greatest success is predicted. At least we are certain that the same high standard of thought and action will be maintained as has characterized the club in the past. To depart from that would be suicidal and we are fortunate in the type of the incoming officers that will insure this. The club is going forward, not backward and only progressive thought that is clean can enter its councils.

Let us not live in the past. Let us not even indulge in its memories to the extent of recitation of the achievements that have marked the progress of the club. There have been many but they will stand for themselves and the good that is yet to come from them, we trust will far surpass any commendation that they might now merit. As much as has been the accomplishment, there have been some disappointments. To call these up would only mar a surface that is now smooth and let us only mention in passing that the coming year will see the fulfillment of all the undone works of the past. It is the unexpressed desire of every member of the club that the greatest achievements shall be the unseen. If there has come into the minds and action of the business interests of this city a closer feeling of oneness, and better understanding of the desires of each and the incorporation of these desires in to the best things for Middlesboro then the club has indeed been a blessing. We believe that this has been true of all that have been numbered in its membership and we feel that it will continue to be true of those who happen to make up its enrollment in the days that are to come. It is an unwise progress and yet it is a development that is necessary before there can be any progress on the outside.

The retiring officials would not be true to their feelings nor worthy of the confidence that has been bestowed upon them did they not take this opportunity of expressing something of the happiness that has been theirs through the co-operation that they have had during their term of office. To serve with support is indeed a pleasure. We try to serve alone is unnecessarily a grind. We have been a part of the former and to the entire membership of the club we are grateful first, because they have given their time to the ongoing of our plans. We are indebted to the citizenship of the city second because their support of our efforts has made them successful. There is a large band of unselfish men in this city who do not belong to the Kiwanis club and yet they are true Kiwanians at heart, they have made the success of the club possible and no appeal has gone to their ears without a responsive hearing. The city is beholden to these men and few know how fortunate we are in having them as citizens. We appreciate their sympathy and co-operation and pledge them our support in their efforts in the future. Now we give them our warmest thanks.

Let the curtain be rung. The finale has been played and time has moved on its slow, yet certain pace. History has been made that shall count when the years have gone and that leaves us now at the threshold of a tremendous new day.—Officers of 1922.

YOU are more likely to succeed in life between the ages of 33 and 38 than before or after. Judged by business success, that is the prime of life.

At least such is the conclusion based on a recent survey made by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company. Out of thousands of typical individuals studied, it was found that of those between the ages of 33 and 38, just 36 out of a hundred could be counted as business failures, while 64 were successful. Of those under 23 years old 49 out of a hundred were successful and 51 failures. Between 24 and 32 years, 58 out of a hundred were successful and 42 failures. After the period of greatest success the number of successes dropped to 53 out of every hundred between the ages of 39 and 44. After 45 the chances of the individual for success are just fifty-fifty.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache often means you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. An excess of meat may form uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once, or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is unexpensive, can not injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

BEWARE OF DRUGS

Medical Authorities Advise Caution in the Use of Preparations Liable to Contain Powerful Drugs.

Never drug your system to relieve or prevent colds, grippe or "flu." Drugs are liable to affect the nervous system or weaken the heart.

Hot medicinal tea is now recommended by many physicians, because it is best for the human system, acts quickly on the bowels and intestines by eliminating the excess poisonous wastes that usually tend to lower your physical resistance. Just pure, refreshing, healthful herbs from nature; that is why millions are now using Bulgarian Herb Tea to relieve and break up bad colds, and also keep the poisons flushed from the system. Many physicians now prescribe Bulgarian Herb Tea, and your druggist can honestly recommend it.

Before Baby Comes

THERE are thousands of expectant mothers who undergo much useless suffering for months before, as well as at the moment when delivery occurs. These months of suffering, with nerves and vital organs weakened, leave their effect upon the child. An eminent physician found the way to stop much of this unnecessary suffering—the same easy way which thousands of mothers have used for three generations.

Mrs. Walter S. Hadley, Bridgeport, Ind., says: "Before my little boy came I was so paralyzed in my hips and limbs I could hardly walk, and some days after a little extra exertion I couldn't walk a step. I felt it coming on this time; in fact, I could hardly get up when I sat down, but now, after using one bottle of Mother's Friend, I am so much better. I feel that I almost owe my life to Mother's Friend."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates remarkably, permitting the easier relaxation and distension of muscles, nerves and ligaments, and their constant easier readjustment during pregnancy and at child-birth. Have no more fear or dread, Mother! Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better.

Mrs. O. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

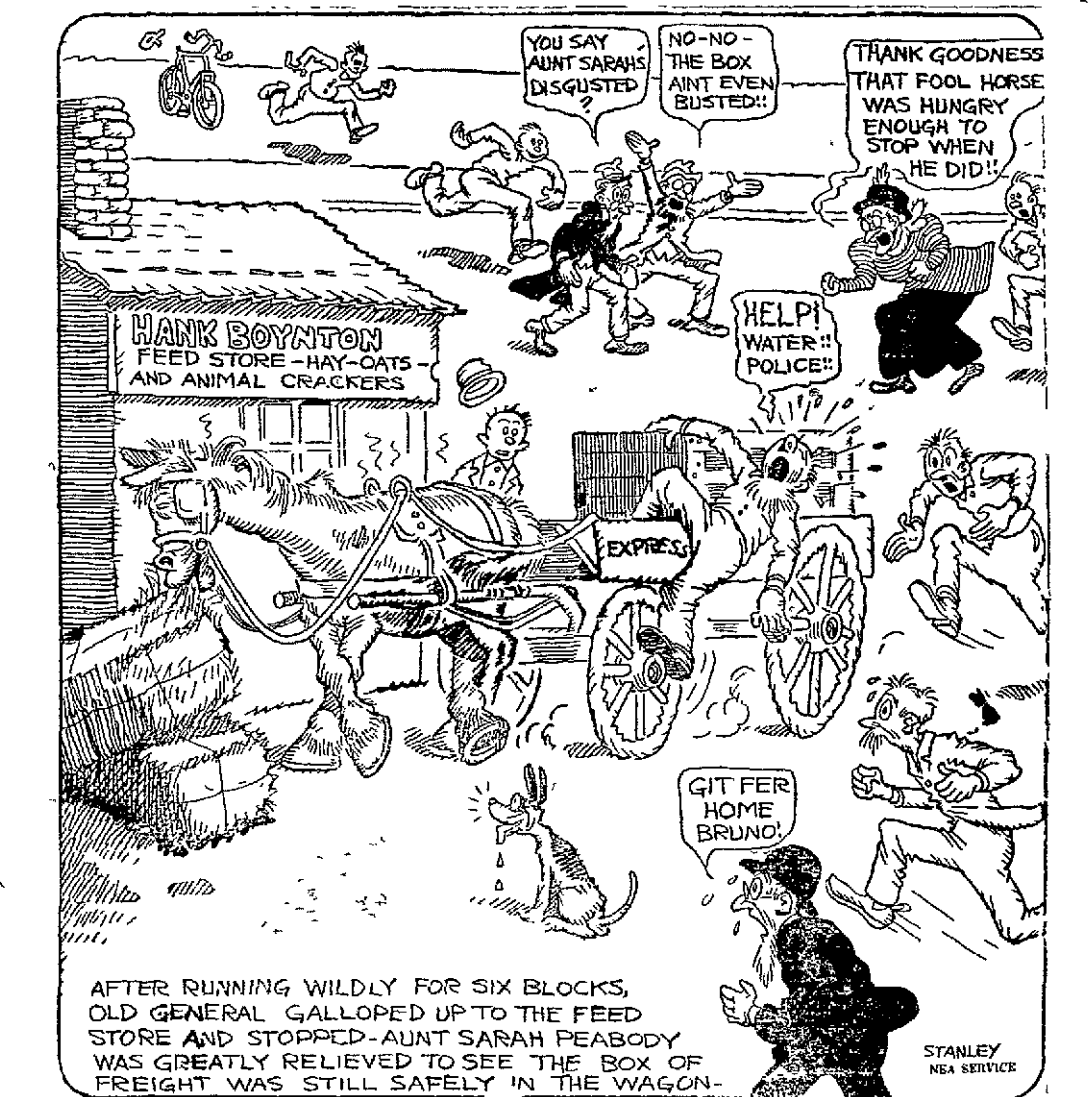

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid more needless and useless sufferings. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

CITIZENS BANK CHRISTMAS CLUB GOOD SAVING PLAN

We are pleased to announce that the Citizens Bank of our city has started a new plan for saving money. It is called the Christmas club.

The plan is very simple. The Citizens Bank will furnish to any one who calls, either woman or child, an attractive Christmas Club pass book.

The smallest amounts for which accounts can be opened are 1c, 2c, 5c or 10c, and think of it. With this small beginning the club members will have, at the end of 52 weeks, either $12.50, $25.50, $37.75 or $127.70. Your first deposit made with only 1c, 2c, 5c or 10c and you increase your deposit this same amount each week.

The bank also offers what they term an even amount club plan where by you start with either 25c, 50c, $1, $2, $5, $10, $20 or more and deposit this same amount each week for a period of 52 weeks. At the end of this time at his option the club members may draw out either all or a part of this Christmas club money for his Christmas needs or leave all or a part of the club money stay in the Citizens Bank to open a regular new bank account or to add to an existing balance.

Ouch! Rub Backache, Stiffness, Lumbago

Rub Pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

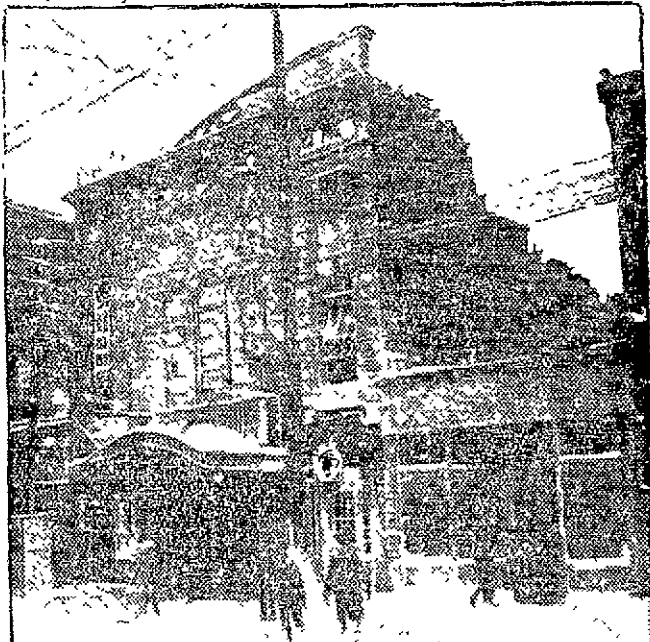

Linger up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

White Moss Candidate for Re-Election

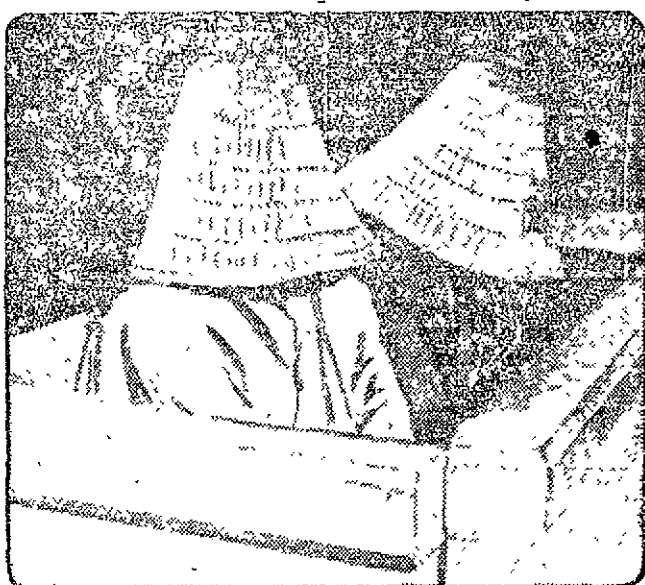

Senator White A. Moss of Pineville is candidate for the Republican nomination for reelection to the state senate from this district. Senator Moss has been one of the most popular men in the General Assembly during his service there and won special notice through his work for good roads. The $50,000,000 road bond issue which he so strongly supported last year, was defeated, but he has assured his constituents if he is reelected, that it will not be his fault if this measure or a similar one is not enacted next year.

Here are two women on trial in a Japanese court. They have to wear baskets over their heads concealing their faces. So pretty faces don't move Nipponese judges and juries.

Is an Advertising Investment Good Collateral?

YOUR money deposited in banks is loaned by bankers upon the security of merchandise whose value has been created and is maintained by advertising.

Is the created more substantial than its creator—the product than the tool?

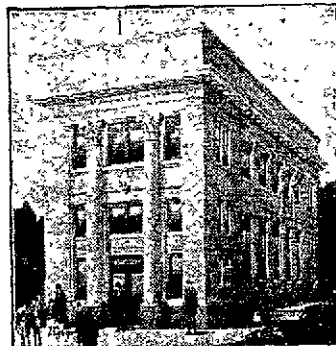

More and more bankers are recognizing the essential verity of this principle—that money can be loaned as safely upon a sound advertising investment as upon other collateral which advertising has developed and maintained.

Do You Want a Share?

WHEN WE BUILT our big Fire and Burglar Proof Vault to protect our own valuable papers and records, we made it large enough to protect yours, too.

No one can afford to have their valuable papers stolen or destroyed; and yet we know a good many who keep them at home without any protection at all.

You will enjoy knowing that your insurance papers, deeds, contracts, bonds, etc., are all properly stored in your own private box. The cost is small but the satisfaction is big.

Better do it right away.
